Hampton Elected President of the National Association Of Black Accountants, Inc. (Nashville Chapter)

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Eugene Hampton II, was recently elected president of the National Association of Black Accountants, Inc. (NABA), Nashville Chapter. His term begins July 1, 2009.

Hampton is a legislative auditor for the Tennessee Comptroller of the Treasury's Division of County Audit and has been with the division for over 11 years. In his role as a legislative auditor, he has oversight of six county audits in the Middle Tennessee area.

He attended Tennessee State University, where he received a Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting. He is a certified public accountant and certified government financial manager.

NABA is one of the premier professional organizations in the nation. It represents the interests of more than 100,000 African Americans and minorities in furthering their educational and professional aspirations in the related business fields of accounting, consulting, finance, information technology and tax. In the early 1980s, nine African-American accountants from the Nashville area met and formed the Nashville Chapter of NABA. Hampton has been involved with NABA for over five years.
