INVESTIGATIVE REPORT

New Market Volunteer Fire Department

The Office of the Comptroller of the Treasury investigated allegations of malfeasance related to the New Market Volunteer Fire Department [fire department].

INVESTIGATIVE RESULTS

- Chief Frank Solomon misappropriated at least $1,105 from the fire department

During the period July 2014 through October 2016, New Market Volunteer Fire Department Chief Frank Solomon misappropriated fire department funds totaling at least $1,105. Chief Solomon perpetrated his misappropriation by charging personal purchases to fire department accounts at multiple auto parts stores. These personal purchases included auto parts and accessories for his personal vehicles, for a family member's personal vehicle, and for vehicles that he had contracted to repair for other individuals. All charges on these fire department accounts, including Chief Solomon's personal charges, were paid with fire department funds. [Refer to the following exhibit.]

Invoice for air shocks for a 1965 Pontiac. This invoice was charged to the fire department account and was signed by Chief Frank Solomon.

- Chief Frank Solomon misused the sales tax exemption and the vehicle title and registration discount intended for government service vehicles

Chief Frank Solomon received a personal benefit to which he was not entitled by misrepresenting the intended use of a vehicle he registered in the fire department's name. In September 2016, Chief Solomon submitted a Government Service Vehicle Registration Application to the Jefferson County Clerk affirming that a Dodge Charger he purchased with his personal funds was a fire department vehicle and was to be used "exclusively for fire protection purposes." [Refer to the following exhibit.] As a result, the chief was not required to pay sales tax, and he paid only $17.50 for the related license and registration fees. Subsequently, the fire department assumed financial responsibility for insurance, purchased fuel, and paid for maintenance related to the vehicle.

Vehicles registered with government service plates must be operated exclusively for essential government purposes or exclusively for fire protection purposes. Qualified senior citizen service centers, human resource agencies, development districts, and community action agencies may register vans owned by the organization. These vans must be used exclusively for the activities the organization. Independent contractors operating a local transit company may also qualify for government plates under certain conditions per Tenn. Code Ann. § 55-4-223(c)1. The investigation revealed that Chief Solomon, an elected constable in Jefferson County, placed decals and other markings identifying the Dodge Charger as a constable car and used the vehicle for various constable duties as well as for fire department duties. [Refer to picture below.]

Constable vehicles are not included under state law as a government service vehicle eligible for government service tags. Therefore, these vehicles are not exempted from sales tax and owners are not entitled to reduced title and registration fees. If Chief Solomon had titled, registered, and licensed the vehicle in his name, sales tax and registration fees totaling $677 would have been assessed.

Chief Solomon acknowledged to investigators that he charged personal purchases to the fire department accounts at auto parts stores. He further stated that the board was not aware of these purchases and that they had not approved the purchases. He also acknowledged that he used the Dodge Charger for constable duties as well as for fire department purposes.

These matters were referred to the local district attorney general. In April 2017, the Jefferson County Grand Jury indicted Frank Solomon on one count of Theft over $1,000, one count of Sales Tax Fraud over $500, one count of Theft under $500, and two counts of Official Misconduct.

ADDITIONAL ISSUES

Our investigation revealed significant deficiencies in financial and other processes, some of which contributed to the fire chief's ability to perpetrate his misappropriation without prompt detection. These deficiencies included:

- Fire department board members failed to review financial transactions handled solely by the board treasurer. The remaining board members did not review bank statements or other financial documents.
- Fire department officials did not require and retain adequate supporting documentation for some disbursements. Payments for charges on the auto parts store accounts were often documented only by a statement, instead of by a detailed invoice showing the specific parts purchased and the signature of the individual making the charge.
- Fire department officials did not require two signatures on checks.
- Fire department officials failed to adequately account for all fundraising collections.

The fire department board members and other fire department officials have indicated that they have corrected or intend to correct these deficiencies.
